1 Introduction

Some important things to take into account:

- Since the submission should not exceed the 4 pages in the current format, please be sure that you have described sufficiently the main contribution of the paper.
- Avoid using many figures and/or Tables
- Indicate if you are competing for the oral and/or the poster competition.
- The deadline for submitting the extended abstract is 28/01/2010, together with a letter from your supervisor (or any other official from your university) that certifies that you are still a student
- Priority will be given to students that are members of EMR-IBS, so you may also asked to prove your membership
